Invited Lecture (Online) on 'Rassundari Devi's Amar Jiban'

On December 22, 2022, the Department of English, GGDC Lalgarh, arranged an online lecture by Dr. Subham Dutta, an Assistant Professor of English at Gokhale Memorial Girls' College. The topic of the lecture was 'Rassundari Devi's Amar Jiban'.

Dr. Dutta's lecture was a detailed exploration of Rassundari Devi's autobiography, Amar Jiban, which is widely considered the first full-fledged autobiography in Bengali literature. He examined the book's significance in the context of 19th-century Indian society, as well as its enduring relevance today.

Dr. Dutta began his lecture with a brief introduction to Rassundari Devi, tracing her journey from a child bride to a pioneering writer. He emphasized how her determination to learn to read and write, despite the societal norms that prohibited women from pursuing education, was a testament to her indomitable spirit.

In the main part of his lecture, Dr. Dutta closely explored the text of Amar Jiban. He analyzed Rassundari Devi's narration of her life experiences, pointing out how her simple yet poignant language captured the struggles and triumphs of her life. He also highlighted the themes of gender, education, and religion in the book, discussing how Rassundari Devi's experiences shed light on the condition of women in 19th-century India.

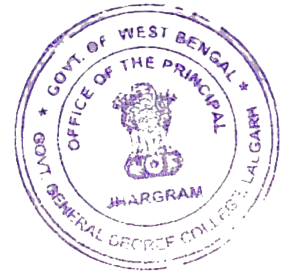

Towards the end of the session, Dr. Dutta invited a few questions. The attendees posed insightful questions and engaged in stimulating discussions about the themes and issues raised in Rassundari Devi's Amar Jiban. Dr. Dutta's responses were thoughtful and enriched the understanding of the students our department who had attended this session. The session ended with a formal vote of thanks.

The primary highlight of the programme was the speech by the chief guest, Dr. Sonali Mukherjee. She presented on the topic “The Travelogues of Bengali Women: The Pre-Independence Phase,” where she shed light on how Bengali women authors contributed to travel literature during the pre-independence era. Dr. Mukherjee’s presentation explored how these women navigated societal constraints to share their experiences, thereby contributing to a broader understanding of both gender and travel narratives in literature. Her talk was both insightful and inspirational, leaving a lasting impression on the audience.

Following her speech, the chairperson, Professor Ajajul Ali Khan, offered his reflections on the topic. He praised Dr. Mukherjee’s insightful presentation and added his perspectives on how travel writing by Bengali women not only served as a form of personal expression but also as a way to challenge traditional norms and roles of women in society.

A Question and Answer session followed, allowing students and faculty members to engage with Dr. Mukherjee and Professor Khan on various aspects of the discussion. The interactive session fostered deeper understanding and active participation from the audience.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Dwaipayan Mitra, Assistant Professor, Department of English, and Secretary of the Teachers 'Council, GGDC Lalgarh. He expressed gratitude to the speakers and attendees for their contributions, making the event a success.

The programme was moderated by Parbati Hembram, Assistant Professor, Department of Bengali, ensuring a smooth flow of the proceedings. The event was a resounding success, celebrating the contributions of women in literature and history while encouraging continued reflection on women’s roles in society.
